MALIA MURPHEY

SURFER, MODEL

Born and raised on the shores of Oahu, Malia comes from a family of “beach people”—surfers, sailors, fishermen and women alike. She describes the ocean, the beach and surfing as her bloodline, “We’ve been living this lifestyle for generations.”

Malia credits her family for teaching her to be strong and independent, and the ocean for teaching her to always be aware and prepared. For Malia, summer means surfing, family time and a break from traveling for her modeling career.

“The ocean is a humbling place,” says Malia. She finds surfing both challenging and inspiring. It requires serious arm, shoulder, back and core strength that she builds through pilates, indoor cycling and her go-to cardio ab blast class. When the perfect wave comes, Malia will be ready.

STEPH GARCIA
PROFESSIONAL RUNNER
#TEAMNB

Late spring and early summer mark the final push of Steph’s training for U.S. Championships. Her goal? To achieve personal records in the Steeplechase, 1500 and 5K— not to mention qualifying to represent Team USA in the IAAF World Championships in 2019.

For Steph, self-belief is critical. “Never the most outwardly talented runner,” Steph credits her coaches and teammates for seeing her potential, but is keenly aware that “no one is standing on the starting line with you.”

Like any skill, confidence must be honed and harnessed. In addition to the obvious speed sessions, steeplechase races, strength training, yoga and meditation, Steph builds mental toughness and sharpens her edge by working with a sports psychologist. On race day, Steph knows that the key to winning is believing she can.

MELISSA
HERRERA
RAQUEL (ROCKY)
RODRIGUEZ

COSTA RICAN NATIONAL TEAM
#TEAMNB

The national pastime of Costa Rica? Soccer (aka “futbol”). Yet, as a young girl, Melissa recalls being labelled a tomboy for playing the sport, inspiring her to show that she “could play soccer like men do.” Rocky agrees, “Women’s soccer was not supported by institutions and society.”

We asked Melissa and Rocky what it takes to stay motivated and overcome challenges. As role models, they feel a responsibility to keep pushing forward. By chasing their dreams, Melissa and Rocky empower the next generation of Costa Rican female players to break barriers and follow in their footsteps.

To stay positive in the face of adversity, both players count on family support and encouragement. In the game of soccer, you have to be strong because when you don’t win, you “lose,” a word and feeling that can be hard to handle, says Melissa. Rocky emphasizes the importance of training your mind to build confidence and reframe obstacles as opportunities.

PILAR
ALEXANDRIA

YOGA INSTRUCTOR, MODEL

You teach people how to treat you. That’s advice Pilar lives by. She practices self-care, strives for balance and refuses to be put in a box. One day she is teaching a soul-rocking yoga class, the next she is modeling for an upcoming fashion line. Pilar says, “give me the yoga pants and the leather jacket.”

Pilar likes to mix it up, and her yoga practice is no exception. This spring and summer, she plans to incorporate strength training into her routine and co-lead a yoga with weights sculpting program.

Before discovering the power of yoga, Pilar struggled with anxiety and depression. Learning how to move her body with her breath helped her connect to her needs. If she wants to wear something, she wears it. If she wants to go somewhere, she goes for it. Now she lets her heart guide her, and happiness follows.

CHLOE WILDE

CANADIAN ENTERTAINMENT PERSONALITY, FOUNDER OF HEALTHY IS HOT

Turning the tables on Canadian entertainment personality Chloe Wilde, we interviewed her about everything from her rise to fame to her plans for a Healthy is Hot summer.

NB: Most important lesson from starring in a reality tv show?

Keep your support system close and know that it's okay to accept help when you need it.

NB: Advice to women who want to break into entertainment reporting?

Be fearlessly and unapologetically yourself.

NB: Best advice you've ever been given?

Everything you've ever wanted is just on the other side of fear. — Someone Wise

NB: Goal for summer 2019?

To take my love of fitness on the road and experience different races in various cities. A few that have caught my eye include a half marathon in Vancouver, a 400m climb in Whistler and a sprint triathlon in my hometown of Montreal.

NB: Must-haves for summer travels?

A killer playlist, healthy snacks, being open to the unknown and a partner in crime.
